Drug question holds up student aid

DANIELLE STERN
NEWS EDITOR

Student financial aid applications are being held up by the U.S. Department of Education because of a previously ignored law regarding drug convictions.

Students who left question 35 blank on their financial aid applications will not receive aid until they resubmit a completed application. The question asks, "Have you ever been convicted of possessing or selling illegal drugs?" Directions printed in bold say, "Do not leave this question blank."

According to Marian Smithson, director of student financial aid, 17 students of 5,884 who have applied for aid for the 2001-02 school year left question 35 blank. Of those, five have already been moved to award status. Smithson said those awards are frozen until new data is received.

"We'll keep everything on hold until questions are completed and we become aware of no problems," she said.

The Department of Education is responsible for notifying applicants.

According to The Associated Press, hundreds of thousands of applicants who did not answer the question were not denied aid during the Clinton administration, despite the law saying they should have been.

Smithson said 14,800 students of 4 million nationwide

Nelly lives up to deal Bears see what SIUE has to offer

ALESTLE STAFF REPORT

Concert-goers actually got more than they paid for at Saturday's Nelly performance.

Bookers and backers of the concert said the performance exceeded the scheduled time.

According to Lisa Ramsey, assistant director of Campus Life, Nelly's contract called for a 90-minute show, but combined with opening acts and set changes, the entire performance lasted for more than two hours and 45 minutes.

"He (the tour manager) decides how much will be opening act and how much will be Nelly," Ramsey said Wednesday.

Nelly was scheduled to go onstage at 9:30 p.m. but didn't begin performing until 10 p.m. Ramsey said he performed for approximately 45 minutes.

Alestle Assistant News Editor Daniel Toberman was told Saturday by security guards in the Vadalabene Center the concert was being cut short. Onstage, Nelly complained of being given a time restriction. Ramsey said the statements were incorrect.

According to University Center Board representatives, Nelly performed to a crowd of about 3,600 at a cost of $40,000.

Two representatives from the National Football League Chicago Bears traveled to Edwardsville Tuesday to tour facilities as they look for a new summer home.

Bears Director of Administration Bill Mcgrane and Training Camp Coordinator Clyde Emrich toured SIUE's facilities and said it compared nicely to the other 12 campuses in the state being considered to be the next site for the Bears' summer training camp.

The lack of a football program at SIUE didn't discourage Mcgrane.

"I have wondered about that a little before we came here, but I don't think so," Mcgrane said. "You certainly have the facility here with the stadium."

Both men said they were pleased with the housing, dining, meeting and weight training areas SIUE provides.

"This is a good solid site," Mcgrane said. "Our reaction is very positive."

However, Mcgrane says some changes would need to be made to get the Bears to choose SIUE.

"There's a few points that have to be improved," Emrich said. "And that's the fields and the locker rooms."

Emrich also said the fields at every site they visited needed work.

The fields being considered as sites where practices would be held are the intramural fields, the athletic fields off Bluff Road and Korte Stadium. If SIUE makes the first-round cuts, the Bears will bring in their own groundskeeper to see what needs to be done to get the fields up to par.

University Museum copes with SIUE's largest art collection

SHERI MCWHIRTER/ALESTLE

ANTHONY WATT
ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR

SIUE will soon own a vast assortment of fossils, carvings, odds, ends and knickknacks.

The items are the art collection of Milton Harrington, an art collector who died in December.

Although the entire collection is kept in the University Museum, only a small portion of its pieces belong to the university. The rest is still owned by Harrington's estate but will also be donated to the university once the paperwork is finished. Harrington began to store his collection at SIUE around 1990.

"He was just looking for a good home for his children. The objects were, in a sense, his children," said Eric Barnett, director of the museum.

Harrington was as varied as the things he spent his life gathering. He was the first person to receive a degree in paleontology from Washington University in 1928.

A businessman as well as a scientist, he worked at several different jobs in the business community. He made his money printing greeting cards nationwide, but running a business did not keep him from traveling around the world and collecting things as he went.

Harrington bought most of his items from fellow collectors and art dealers during his travels.

The objects fill half of the University Museum's 12,600-square-foot storage facility.

"So far the objects he (Harrington) gave to us while he was alive equal about $1.2 million and that is only one-tenth of the collection," Barnett said. "How many pieces are in the collection? I don't know. Probably 100,000."

Student dies in two-vehicle collision

ANTHONY WATT

Brenda Foote, the mother of Brian P. Foote of Belleville, would like the SIUE community to have a moment of silence for her son on Friday.

Brian Foote, 22, a junior sociology major at SIUE was killed in a car accident at 1:38 a.m. Sunday.

The accident occurred approximately 970 feet south of Fred Huth Road on Illinois Route 13.

According to the Illinois State Police, Foote was driving north on Illinois Route 13 when a 1987 model Nissan pickup truck driven by David L. Sumoski, 29, of Cahokia crossed the center line and collided head on with Foote's 1995 Buick Skylark.

Visitations for Foote will be from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday and from 7:30 to 11 a.m. Saturday at McDaniel Funeral Home in Sparta.

The funeral will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at Sparta's The Church of God in Christ Jesus All Nations.

"Brian was a wonderful son and the years we had with him were wonderful," Brenda Foote said. "He loved his sisters, and his mom and dad. He loved his family. He had an interest in sports and in history. He was a history buff. I kept wanting him to be a history teacher but he didn't have the temperament."

"He never gave me a speck of trouble. He was a good son and he was just talking about joining the police academy that weekend," she said.

Foote was pronounced dead at 2:45 a.m. The state police said he was not wearing his seat belt.

Sumoski was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville. He was reported in fair condition Wednesday.

Sumoski's passenger Scott A. Medford, 26, of Lenzburg was taken to St. Louis University Hospital. He was reported in serious condition by hospital officials Wednesday.

Both Sumoski and Medford were wearing their seat belts at the time of the accident.

Foote is survived by his parents Paul and Brenda Foote and his sisters Dieter and Taylre Foote.

These are just a few of the pieces in the University Museum's Harrington collection, which consists of 100,000 works.

The Harrington collection includes items from South America, Central America, Greece, Egypt and the Mississippian culture of Cahokia Mounds fame.

Barnett said the biggest problem he faces is taking care of the collection. This includes cataloging it, keeping items intact and keeping track of all of the collection.

He is trying to decide exactly what to do with the seashells, coins, the complete skeleton of a cave bear and the massive quantities of other Harrington material stored at SIUE.

Barnett said art students can use pieces in their classes or research on technique.

"You see here," Barnett said, pointing to two similar bronze statues of a mounted American Indian, "the difference in the detail. This one is much more detailed. The other is a copy that didn't use the original mold."

Barnett said at least four students are using

Harrington artifacts in their classes.

Senior Debra Jaime is using artifacts from the Caribbean in her art history class.

"Right now I'm doing three cases where I'm going to display Harrington pieces," she said. "They are Taino artifacts. The Taino are the indigenous people of the Caribbean."

She said her project is about the interaction of European explorers and the indigenous peoples.

"I am Puerto Rican," she said. "I have Taino in my blood somewhere along the line."

Barnett also said he would like to see the collection used at the university, but if there are objects that cannot be used, it would not be appropriate to keep them. Some could be sold and others loaned out to other museums.

Since 1990, SIUE has displayed Harrington's items 16 times. Each exhibit had a different cultural theme or emphasis. Items are also on display in small amounts all over campus.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR POLICY

The editors, staff and publishers of the Alestle believe in the free exchange of ideas, concerns and opinions and will publish as many letters to the editor as possible. Letters may be turned in at the Alestle office located in the Morris University Center, Room 2022 or via e-mail at alestle\_editor@hotmail.com. All hard copy letters should be typed and double-spaced. All letters should be no longer than 500 words. Please include your phone number, signature (or name, if using e-mail) and student identification number.

We reserve the right to edit letters for grammar and content. However, great care will be taken to ensure that the message of the letter is not lost or altered.

Letters to the editor will not be printed anonymously except under extreme circumstances.

The Alestle is a member of the Illinois College Press Association, the Associated Collegiate Press and UWIRE.

The name Alestle is an acronym derived from the names of the three campus locations of SIUE: Alton, East St. Louis and Edwardsville.

The Alestle is published on Tuesdays and Thursdays during fall and spring semesters, and on Wednesdays during summer semesters. For more information, call (618) 650-3528.

Goodbye, good luck, see you soon

The semester is almost over. Soon we all will be looking back at the last few months and wish we had classes to keep us busy. Well, maybe not, but it won't be long before the spring semester is just a memory. This is the last edition of the Alestle for the semester. If you're taking summer classes, we'll see you in a few weeks. If you'll be back in the fall, we'll see you in a few months. Be sure to enjoy your break, no matter how short it is. We want to congratulate our graduates. We hope that from here you all can go on to living the lives you've dreamed of and being the successes that college has set you up to be.

This is the graduation edition of the Alestle. The middle eight pages come out and are a souvenir for the graduates. Be sure to take a look at it.

I will be back for another three semesters as the editor of the Alestle starting this summer. So, be sure to check us out over the summer. Even if you're not on campus, you can check the Web site at www.thealestle.com to keep up with the happenings at SIUE.

Good luck on finals. We'll see most of you soon. Have a safe and happy summer.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the article on the Nelly concert that ran in the April 24 edition of the Alestle.

I believe the article was grossly inaccurate and negative, when the concert itself was a very successful and positive experience on this campus.

The headline shocked me into reading the article to find out what negative comments Daniel Toberman had to say about the concert, especially when I remembered the article that ran last year regarding the Urge concert. Nelly's performance was actually not cut short. He was scheduled for 45 minutes, which was part of his contract. And as the article pointed out, he performed for 50 minutes.

Also, the four opening acts were scheduled as follows: Core was scheduled for 10 minutes, Royce da 59 for 15, Alley Life for 15 and Sticky Fingaz for 20. While Nelly did appear on stage late, that was something members of the University Center Board could not control in any way. And we never suggested to Nelly that it was time for him to get off the stage at any point during the performance.

Instead of writing these inaccuracies, Toberman could have focused on all the positive points of this concert.

Tickets sold out in approximately two weeks, and the house was packed. Final attendance for the concert was recorded at somewhere around 3,600 people. That's probably one of the largest events to occur on this campus in a long time.

Up until Toberman's article ran, I heard nothing but positive comments from students, and several staff members have gone out of their way to congratulate us on a job well done. There were no fights and no serious mishaps. The ambulance service we hired was never needed, and everyone had a good time.

I'm sorely displeased that such a negative article was run when in reality the concert was the most successful event the University Center Board has put on in a long time.

Allison Benoit
University Center Board

Dear Editor,

First, let me compliment you and your staff on the many improvements to the Alestle over the last year. Then let me complain.

I was disappointed that Daniel Toberman made the choice to write a negative story about the April 21 Nelly concert. While I was disappointed with the factual errors in his article and a true lack of investigation in his reporting, what I found most disappointing was his failure to consider the numerous positive aspects of the concert.

The performances were dynamic, the crowd well behaved, and the staff and volunteers courteous and efficient. This concert was a success from both an artistic level and from the community level.

Those of us who attended with an open mind were brought closer together while being greatly entertained. Most importantly, it showed that this campus is both ready and deserving of being entertained by major acts.

Had Mr. Toberman actually reported the story that was unfolding on April 21, he would have written about how the quality of student life on this campus took a major step forward with that concert. He should have been congratulating everyone involved with the concert for opening our eyes to the possibilities that exist for major student-centered events on campus and not trying to find controversy where none existed.

Part of a reporter's responsibility to the community is to report the full story. Unfortunately, in an attempt to find a controversy, Toberman missed the real news from the concert.

A.G. Monaco
Director of Human Resources

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to the article on Springfest that was published on April 24. Brooke Heitz's article gives readers a false sense of what actually occurred.

I attended the events and can honestly say that the article left out some key details about the Outback Bonfire. The story says that the evening was fun and exciting, which was the exact opposite of what actually occurred.

I was there to watch my friends' band, Kessel Run. This Outback Bonfire was one of the worst-planned events I have ever seen on campus. For starters, the band was not provided with any sound equipment. Luckily they had brought their own just in case, otherwise there wouldn't have been a show at all. When they arrived, no one even knew if a sound person had been contacted or how long the band was supposed to play.

It appeared there were two groups running the event. There was the group that was in charge of the Survivor Challenge and the group that was in charge of the food. While these two groups were worrying about what they were in charge of, someone missed the entertainment part.

The people who were there and in charge were very nice, but no one knew what anyone was supposed to do. This was probably due to the arguing the two groups were doing. Just standing around, you could hear a woman yelling at others in the pavilion about wasting her time. The band did, however, set up and went on with the performance, which got under way about 5 p.m.

Within 15 minutes of the Survivor Challenge concluding, people started to leave. I guess they were fast eaters. By 5:30 p.m. there were only about 20 people left. Then they announced the winner of the Nelly tickets, which was the most insulting thing that happened all evening.

Having no set time for the ticket drawing, they could have waited until Kessel Run was done playing, but they didn't. They asked the band after a song if they would pick the winner from an envelope. They graciously did, and the winner was eventually picked (you had to be in attendance to win the tickets). After the winner was announced, everyone but the food servers and the fans of the band left.

The very least that the people in charge could have done was wait for the band to finish playing. After all, they were there playing on only two hours' notice and with their own equipment because someone messed up. It was one of the rudest things I have ever seen.

After attending that event, I am no longer sorry that I don't go to more school functions. People are always complaining that there isn't anything to do on this campus. While I am sure that most other events are not as poorly planned and executed as this, it's always the bad things people remember. That should be considered the next time someone plans a campus activity.

Help families enjoy a night of fun

MELISSA UNDERWOOD
NEWS STRINGER

The eighth-annual Family Fun Night is just around the corner.

Family Fun Night will be from 5 to 9 p.m. Friday, May 18, in the Morris University Center for the second year in a row. Activities are open to all, including video karaoke, arts and crafts, games, clowns, face painting and informational booths from various community agencies.

The $3 per family admission fee covers all activities.

"We hope to see many SIUE families there," said Rachel Witt, director of marketing and chair of the Family Fun Night Committee. Last year the attendance was around 1,200 people.

The American Humanities Student Association is recruiting volunteers for the event.

Volunteers will assist with activities, greet people, assist with video karaoke, dress as characters, direct traffic, help with registration, and help set up and tear down. Volunteers will have a choice in what area to work unless they are needed in another.

"We have recruited several volunteers local schools and organizations, but we are still in need of many more volunteers," Witt said. Approximately 200 volunteers are needed to manage the event.

Witt named three goals for the event. The first goal is for families from the community to come together for an affordable night of fun. The second is to help parents and children learn activities that they can try at home for little cost to continue healthy parent-child interaction. The third is for families to get exposure to several community agencies and learn more about the services available to the community.

Witt said the AHSA, as an advocate for nonprofit community organizations, supports these goals.

"This event relates to the purpose of the American Humanities Student Association in many ways," she said.

Members involved in event planning are taught community involvement, marketing, resource development and administrative work. Members learn how to be leaders and put their team-building roles to use.

Interested volunteers should call the AHSA office at 650-3645.

Staff member wins state service award

ALESTLE STAFF REPORT

Assistant Director of the Kimmel Leadership Center Suzanne Kutterer-Siburt was awarded for her work with the Illinois Campus Compact.

Kutterer-Siburt received a plaque in recognition for the various community and student-based programs she organizes.

"I was really surprised to receive this honor," Kutterer-Siburt said. "Schools like the University of Illinois and Northwestern (University) are involved with the Illinois Campus Compact, so it was exciting to win over those schools."

Kutterer-Siburt has been secretary for the organization's board for the past two years.

"We recognize Suzanne because of her commitment, not only to her programs, but to service learning as a whole," said Kathy Engleken, director of the Illinois Campus Compact. "She continues to push for improvement in the Illinois Campus Compact."

The Illinois Campus Compact promotes and develops involvement in community service programs such as volunteerism and services linked to students enrolled in higher education in Illinois. More than 25 colleges and universities are members of the Illinois Campus Compact.

"It doesn't belong there," she said. "You're running the process based on a minute number of students."

Smith also said students are ineligible for state aid in Illinois if they refuse to answer the question.

Students who answer yes to the question receive a worksheet in the mail to determine if the conviction affects aid eligibility.

Critics of the law point to the encouragement of aid applicants to lie to receive financial assistance. However, students said they feel applicants should be accountable.

"It should be encouraging students to claim responsibility for their actions," said Tobie DePauw, a senior in liberal arts. "If they fill it out honestly, there's a better chance they're going to get financial aid."

Devon Van, a junior in music education, agrees. "Students should be smart enough to fill it out," he said.

Ariana Elia, a sophomore in computer science, said the question should be optional, but said she doesn't understand why applicants wouldn't respond. "I really don't see why you wouldn't answer it," she said.

Other students said they didn't care about the new enforcement of the law.

"It doesn't really affect me," said Mark Blane, an undeclared freshman.

For more information, call the financial aid hotline at (800) 433-3243.

BEARS

An advantage that SIUE has over other sites is its proximity to Lambert Airport.

"We fly our team out of camp at least once for preseason games," Mcgrane said. "So we need an airport with a runway big enough to land a 757."

Neither of the officials said he thought that being close to Rams' park will make a difference. They said they hope to extend the Bears' fan base outside Chicago into Southern Illinois.

"We have been training in Wisconsin for 18 years, and Packer fans are worse," Mcgrane said. "We wouldn't have a sense of outcast by being close to St. Louis."

If SIUE is the chosen site for the Bears' camp, it would mean an economic boost for the surrounding area and positive exposure for the school.

"It will be an economic benefit for the community, but a break even for the school," said Patrick Williams, vice chancellor for development and public affairs.

SIUE will look to community business leaders for added financial support to fund most of the facility upgrades needed to accommodate the Bears.

After the news conference, SIUE officials held a reception that included many area civic and political leaders.

A final decision is expected to be made before the team leaves for its final camp in Platteville, Wis., in June.

French makes the grade for students this summer

MELISSA UNDERWOOD
NEWS STRINGER

French students will have a chance to experience the culture of France firsthand during a summer course.

The foreign language 491 class will meet only once on campus for an informational meeting. The second class meeting will be on the May 5 flight to Paris. Over two weeks, students will earn three credit hours by studying in both a structured class format and through diverse activities in a strictly French-speaking environment. From the moment the students meet, the class will be conducted entirely in French.

According to the syllabus, the course is an "immersion language and culture course in which students will develop individual fluency in French while learning about contemporary France and French culture."

The Ecole Superieure des Sciences Commerciales d'Angers will provide the traditional classroom in which students will study from two required texts and practice conversation skills. ESSCA in Angers, France, is a French exchange school with SIUE. The students will spend a couple of hours on each of five mornings at ESSCA.

The remainder of the time will be spent visiting the main tourist areas in Paris, Angers and the Loire Valley. The students will deal with practical situations in French and experience French culture up close.

Frederic Leveziel, a foreign languages and literature instructor, will serve as a tour guide at all times to avoid English-speaking guides.

"I have already done research on all of the places we're going to visit," Leveziel said.

In addition to visiting famous castles, the Eiffel Tower and the Louvre, students will be able to practice their language skills in restaurants, hotels, a movie theater, the subway, a hypermarket, an outdoor market and a department store.

The trip will be taken in conjunction with a School of Business trip with more than 20 graduate business students. Leveziel said the English-speaking graduate students will meet the French class occasionally during the trip, but they will not be traveling together or staying in the same hotels.

The price of the trip is more than $2,000 per person. The College of Arts and Sciences is assisting students with $600 each through the CAS travel fund.

The class is closed for this summer, but Leveziel said he intends to offer the trip again next summer for interested students. The prerequisite for the class is French 202, the fourth semester in a series of beginning and intermediate classes.

For more information, contact Leveziel at 650-2313 or via e-mail at flevezi@siue.edu.

Graduation Spring 2001

Thursday, April 26, 2001

ELIZABETH GRIMSLEY
SUPPLEMENTAL SECTION EDITOR

Another semester draws to a close and another group of students prepares to cross the stage and receive degrees from SIUE.

According to Janet McReynolds, associate vice chancellor for student affairs, approximately 850 to 900 of the 1,300 eligible students will attend the May 5 commencement ceremony.

Due to the number of students, two ceremonies have been planned.

The College of Arts and Sciences and the schools of Engineering and Nursing are scheduled for 9 a.m. The schools of Business and Education will follow at 1 p.m.

Each ceremony will have a student speaker.

At the early ceremony, nursing graduate student Sherieda Stewart will speak, and Elliot Safley Boehm, who is receiving a graduate degree in psychology, will speak at the afternoon ceremony. Both ceremonies will be in the Vadalabene Center.

Lee Shulman, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, is scheduled to speak at both.

Shulman will also receive an honorary doctorate of humane letters at the 9 a.m. ceremony. The honorary degree is in recognition of his work with the scholarship of teaching.

Honorary doctorate to be awarded

ELIZABETH GRIMSLEY
SUPPLEMENTAL SECTIONS EDITOR

Lee Shulman, nationally recognized educational researcher and president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, will receive an honorary doctorate of humane letters from SIUE at the spring commencement.

Shulman will receive his award at the 9 a.m. ceremony and will also speak to graduates at both commencements.

In addition to his work with the Carnegie Foundation, Shulman was the Charles E. Ducommun professor of education and professor of psychology at Stanford University.

He received his bachelor of arts, master of arts and doctorate in educational psychology degrees from the University of Chicago. He also holds five honorary doctorates.

He was an assistant and associate professor at Michigan State University from 1964 to 1968, a visiting professor at Hebrew University/Hadassah

School of Medicine from 1969 to 1970 and a full professor at Michigan State University from 1968 to 1982.

Shulman was also the co-director of the Institute for Research on Teaching at Michigan State in 1976.

Shulman's research and writings have dealt with the study of teaching and the education of teachers, the evaluation of teaching, the psychology of instruction, the logic of educational research, and the scholarship of teaching schools and colleges.

His current research involves a long-term study of how new secondary school teachers learn to teach and testing evaluation and assessment strategies at the elementary and secondary school levels as well as at colleges and universities.

For his work, Shulman has been rewarded over the years. His credits include advising many national teaching institutions and organizations.

He was the president, co-director or director of several national educational research facilities and universities and was fellows for the American Psychological Association, Guggenheim and the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences.

Shulman has also been published several times in professional journals such as Educational Researcher, the Harvard Educational Review and Methods in Teacher Education.

In The Handbook of Teaching and Policy, Shulman writes: "Teachers must have commitments to a vision of educational excellence in fair and just societies, a vision that motivates their choices and lends wisdom to their exercise of professional autonomy. ... But the teacher must remain the key. The literature of effective schools is meaningless, debates over educational policy are moot, if the primary agents of instruction are incapable of performing their functions well. No microcomputer will replace them, no television system will clone and distribute them, no scripted lessons will direct and control them, no voucher system will bypass them."

SIUE theater presents 'Godspell' and 'The Wizard of Oz' this summer

ALESTLE STAFF REPORT

The SIUE theater department will bring two loved musicals to the stage this summer for the 2001 Summer Showbiz season.

The summer season begins with the classic, family musical "The Wizard of Oz." Famous for the 1939 movie starring Judy Garland, the musical is about a young girl named Dorothy. Unhappy with her boring life in Kansas, Dorothy, Toto and her house are whisked away by a tornado to a land somewhere over the rainbow. There, she meets her infamous friends the Scarecrow, the Tin Man and the Cowardly Lion. Together they follow the yellow brick road in search of the Wizard who can grant their wishes. Based on the book by L. Frank Baum, "The Wizard of Oz" takes the stage at 7:30 p.m. June 14 through 16 and 21 through 23. Matinee performances will begin at 2 p.m. June 17 and 24.

Next, the stage will be transformed into an abandoned theater as the department presents "Godspell." Since its premiere, "Godspell" has remained an immensely successful rock opera, breaking new ground in its stage treatment of Jesus Christ. "Godspell" is based on the Gospel according to Matthew; this modern and contemporary retelling is a celebration of music, mime, comedy and slapstick. The score of "Godspell" calls on all modern musical influences, including rock, gospel and ragtime and includes the hits "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord" and "Day by Day."

"Godspell" will be performed at 7:30 p.m. July 12 through 14 and 19 through 21. The musical begins at 2 p.m. July 15 and 22.

Award-winning 'Aida' tour stops at the Fox

ALESTLE STAFF REPORT

Broadway's Tony-Award winning musical love story "Aida" will make the Fox Theatre its second stop on its national tour.

"Aida" will play the Fox Theatre for 13 performances Friday through May 6.

The musical features new music and lyrics by Elton John and Tim Rice.

The production, which received four Tony Awards last year, opened on Broadway at the Palace Theatre on March 23, 2000, and has been playing to capacity audiences ever since.

The musical is the tale of Aida, a captured Nubian princess who becomes the handmaiden to the pharaoh's daughter, Princess Amneris. Aida, whose noble rank is unknown to the Egyptians, falls in love with her captor, Radames, who is also Amneris' betrothed. The characters are torn between love and their higher socio-political duties.

Tickets range from $17 to $67 and are on sale now at the Fox Theatre box office and all MetroTix locations, including Famous Barr stores, Streetside Records and select Schnucks Video Centers. To charge by phone, call MetroTix at (314) 534-1111 or visit the Web site at www.metrotix.com. Groups of 20 or more can call the Fox group sales office at (314) 535-2900 for special rates. For more information, visit the Fox on the Web at www.fabulousfox.com

After splitting its last three conference doubleheaders, the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II No. 25-ranked baseball team will face its most challenging games of the season this weekend.

The Cougars will take on the University of Missouri-St. Louis Rivermen in a three-game series at home.

“Everything is riding on Saturday and Sunday,” head coach Gary Collins said in a recent press release.

UMSL, 25-25 overall and 13-8 in the Great Lakes Valley Conference, trails SIUE in the South Division standings by only three games. These games will be crucial for both teams.

UMSL pitchers threw solidly in both games against Indiana University Purdue University-Fort Wayne over the weekend.

Saturday's doubleheader versus the Rivermen will begin at noon. Sunday's single game is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Last week, the Cougars won three out of six games as they were host for conference rivals the University of Southern Indiana, the University of Indianapolis and Northern Kentucky University.

“It was a very disappointing weekend,” Collins said. “I wasn't very happy with our offense. We have been playing a lot better but didn't have very good at-bats and lost a game in the standings.”

Collins said he was pleased with the pitching however.

“I thought Matt Wilkinson, Dave Crouthers, Bret Giaudrone and Nick Seibert pitched well. Seibert kept us in the game until we could score runs,” he said.

Wilkinson and Seibert each picked up a win last weekend. Wilkinson earned two wins with the 12-5 victory against Southern Indiana and the 6-1 win against Indianapolis. He improved his flawless record to 7-0 on the season.

Seibert earned his first win of the year and is 1-2. He allowed two runs on four hits and struck out five batters against Northern Kentucky. Seibert finished the week 6-for-23 at the plate with two home runs and six RBIs.

Crouthers, 6-6, gave up seven runs on five hits and fanned eight batters in his two stints on the mound last week; however, he earned losses in both games, losing to Southern Indiana 4-1 and Northern Kentucky 5-4.

Giaudrone pitched relief in four games. He gave up two runs on three hits and waved eight batters. Giaudrone earned his 10th save of the season against Northern Kentucky in game two of the doubleheader. He leads the GLVC with his

1.40 ERA.

Collins said Chad Opel had quality at-bats. Opel finished the week 9-for-22 with two doubles, a triple, a home run, five runs scored and five RBIs. Opel improved his average to .337 and leads the Cougars with 59 runs scored.

Mark Bugger remains the team leader in batting average. Over the weekend, he increased his average to .420.

As a team, SIUE leads the GLVC in four offensive categories. The Cougars rank No. 1 with 1,421 at-bats, 1,655 total plate appearances, 280 RBIs and 255 strikeouts.

The Cougars played their final nonconference game of the season Wednesday at home against Lindenwood University. Due to deadline, the Alestle was unable to post those scores.

SIUE softball finishes out regular season

BRANDEN PETERSON
SPORTS REPORTER

The SIUE softball team will conclude its regular season play this weekend on the road.

This weekend the Lady Cougars will play doubleheaders against the Lady Knights of Bellarmine College and the Lady Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan College.

On Saturday SIUE will face Bellarmine, which is tied for fourth in the Great Lakes Valley Conference with a 11-7 conference record.

The Lady Knights will look to featured pitcher Jamie Robinson who leads the team in wins. Robinson has pitched her way to an 8-5 record.

Kara Houston is second on the Bellarmine pitching staff with a 7-3 win total.

So far this year, the Lady Knights have split with Lewis University and the No. 6-ranked University of Missouri-St. Louis in conference play. They have swept conference series with Kentucky Wesleyan and the University of Indianapolis.

The Lady Cougars and the Lady Knights will battle it out

Saturday in Louisville, Ky.

Sunday the Lady Cougars will travel to Owensboro, Ky., to face the Lady Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan.

The Lady Panthers are ranked eighth in the GLVC with a 5-13 conference record.

Sandy Nevy leads the Lady Panthers in hitting with a .410 batting average, 21 RBIs and four home runs this season.

The Lady Panthers will also look to get offensive productivity from Becky Moses and Kerry McHugh.

Moses is carrying a .343 batting average with 18 RBIs and three home runs this year.

McHugh has a .256 batting average and has driven in five Kentucky Wesleyan teammates.

On the pitching mound, the Lady Panthers have Moses and Stephanie McCarra.

Moses has been the workhorse for the pitching staff so far, throwing in 18 of 40 games this year. She is carrying a 3.14 ERA and has a 6-12 record, allowing 49 runs and striking out 66 batters in 109 innings pitched.

The Lady Panthers will have their hands full with the Lady Cougars, who are among the nation's best in offense.

As a team, the Lady Cougars are ninth in the nation in batting average, with a .339 average.

SIUE's Erin Newman is in the top 20 in two hitting categories. Newman ranks 19th in home runs with 11 and 13th in the nation with 48 RBIs.

Teammate Katie Waldo leads the nation in stolen bases with 45 in 47 attempts. Waldo is 19th in the nation with six triples.

The SIUE pitching staff is still hot this season with Dawn Farmer, Missy Koenig and RyAnn Spann.

Spann has been on the pitcher's mound 11 times this season, facing 197 batters with 45 strikeouts.

She also recorded two no-hitters early in the season.

Koenig has made 20 appearances this season, facing 480 batters while striking out 41.

Farmer has made 20 appearances this season and has faced 440 batters, striking out 56.

The Lady Cougars will play a doubleheader against Bellarmine at 1 p.m. Saturday and will play another doubleheader against Kentucky Wesleyan at 1 p.m. Sunday.

SIUE host for Twilight Meet at Korte Stadium

SHERI MCWHIRTER/ALESTLE

SIUE will play host to the SIUE Twilight Meet this weekend. The men's and women's track teams are both coming off the Great Lakes Valley Conference championships in Romeoville, SIUE placed seven competitors on the All-GLVC team.
